Carolyn Bessette-Kennedy

Carolyn Bessette-Kennedy, who was the wife of John F. Kennedy Jr. Here's a brief overview of her life:

Early Life and Education

Carolyn Jeanne Bessette was born on January 7, 1966, in White Plains, New York. She was the youngest child of William Joseph Bessette, a cabinet salesman, and Anne Marie, an administrator in the New York City public school system. Carolyn attended Boston University, where she graduated with a degree in elementary education.

Professional Life

Carolyn Bessette-Kennedy worked as a publicist for Calvin Klein, where she gained significant recognition for her work. She started as a saleswoman and eventually became the director of publicity for the company's flagship store in Manhattan.

Personal Life

Carolyn married John F. Kennedy Jr. in 1996. Their relationship was highly publicized, and they were often in the media spotlight. Tragically, Carolyn, her husband John, and her sister Lauren died in a plane crash on July 16, 1999.

Carolyn Bessette-Kennedy is remembered for her elegance, style, and the grace with which she handled the intense public scrutiny that came with being part of the Kennedy family.
